

Sunday, Nov. 17th, 2019 4 – 6 p.m.

The Changing Shoreline of Puget Sound:

A geologist's perspective on our natural history

Speaker: Hugh Shipman,
Coastal Geologist, (Retired)
Washington State Dept of Ecology

The beaches, bluffs, and salt marshes of Camano Island record complicated story of glaciers, erosion, and human activity. In this talk, we'll look at how the island's shorelines formed, how they continue to change, and how people have become part of that story.

a

Location: Floyd Norgaard Cultural Center 27130 102nd Ave N.W. Stanwood WA 98292.

Refreshments will be served about 4 pm and program will begin soon after. There is no charge but donations gratefully accepted to support programs and project at the Stanwood Area Historical Society